PANEL DESCRIPTIONS

Grit and Growth: Building a Mindset for Success

Military spouses are resilient, determined and motivated – they have grit. But how do we translate that into success in the workplace? The American Bar Association’s Grit Project educates women lawyers about the science behind grit and growth mindset - two important traits that many successful women lawyers have in common. By providing the tools to assess and learn these traits, this panel educates attorneys on the power of these important traits. Through examples from the panelists sharing their successes in life and the law and discussion about common scenarios faced by women attorneys, attendees will learn how to harness their true grit and develop a mindset for growth.

Leveraging Technology in Your Practice

Don’t know the difference between MyCase and MySpace? The rules of professional responsibility are changing and attorneys are expected to be more tech savvy in this digital age. Understanding and implementing the right technology can help military spouse attorneys work remotely and build virtual practices for a portable career. Our experts will explore the new rules and different tools available for attorneys to better serve their clients and build careers on the move.

Tech Talks

Seattle is home to a thriving tech industry. Hear from local counsel about the latest advances in law and technology. Attorneys from the Boeing Company, Expedia, and Thomson Reuters will share their expertise and insights on three different hot tech topics, including online advertising, big data, and using tech to build work-life balance. The speakers will educate attendees about the current state of law on each issue, where the law on that issue is headed, and how military spouses can utilize these topics in their every day practice.

Alternative to Practice: Non-traditional Careers for JDs

Want to use your JD but haven’t been able to follow a “normal” path to practice the law because of the hurdles associated with the military lifestyle? Many law school grads successfully pursue alternative careers for a variety of reasons. Hear from other JDs and military spouses about what personal and professional paths they followed and how they found success in a non-traditional legal career. Panelists will share their experiences and offer advice for attorneys seeking an alternative to traditional practice.

Building a Small Business

Military spouses often embrace the entrepreneurial spirit. But it can be a daunting task to build a business compatible with the military lifestyle. Attorney and COO Donna Huneycutt will present a workshop educating attendees on the legal ins and outs of business formation and successfully launching a small business. Whether building your own business or advising others, this session will provide information on the formation and operation of business ventures and the unique legal issues that affect these entities.

Gaining Experience through Skills Based Volunteering

Experience is a key ingredient to a successful career, but as attorneys, we also share a duty to support the communities in which we live. Military spouse attorneys frequently on the move can utilize volunteer work to gain experience and give back. In this session, we will explore the current rules surrounding pro bono work and how attendees can simultaneously serve their communities while strengthening their résumés. Panelists will share information on how to strategically build legal skills and a network through volunteering and pro bono opportunities.

Homefront Rising: Joining the Political Ranks

Military spouses are adept at calling on Congress and our elected officials to demand that they meet the needs of those who serve. But we also need members of our own community among the elected officials making decisions that affect the lives of military families. Hear from political insiders to learn how to pursue positions of influence in local, state, and national government.
SPEAKER BIOGRAPHIES

Dan Lear
Dan is a technology lawyer, facilitator, and blogger. He currently serves as the Director of Industry Relations at Avvo. He is the cofounder of the Seattle Legal Technology and Innovation MeetUp, a self-styled “legal hacking” group that meets regularly to explore, identify, and implement unconventional solutions to law’s problems, big and small. He’s also blogged and written extensively about the profession and its evolution on his blog Right Brain Law and for other online and print publications.

In his six years as a practicing attorney and more than ten years in the legal industry, Dan worked for two lean “NewLaw” law firms, designed and implemented an online program for procurement contract processing, and was a part of early international legal outsourcing efforts with a Fortune 500 company. He received his BA in International Studies from Brigham Young University, and his JD and MBA from Seattle University.

Erin Hennessy
Erin Hennessy is a partner in Bracewell & Giuliani’s Technology Group and is the head of the firm’s Trademark and Copyright practice. Her practice focuses on trademark law, copyright law, and internet and social media issues spanning many industries including media, publishing, technology, retail, fashion, and financial services.

Erin counsels clients on all aspects of IP with a particular emphasis on supporting legal, business and marketing teams with branding issues facing their businesses. She handles worldwide trademark matters including trademark counseling, clearance, registration, protection and enforcement, domain name and internet issues, litigation, licensing and transactional work. She has worked on various policy issues such as the launch of the new gTLDs, trademark dilution, domain name tasting, and cyber-squatting. She has served as lead trademark counsel on major corporate transactions such as the $9.6 billion spin-off of Time Warner Cable from Time Warner Inc. and the $2.6 billion divestiture of Warner Music Group.

Prior to joining Bracewell, she was a partner at K&L Gates LLP in Seattle and is also the former Assistant General Counsel and Chief Trademark Counsel for Time Warner Inc.

Erin is a Founding Member of MSJDN and currently serves on the board of the Military Spouse JD Foundation.

Robin Schachter
Robin Schachter is the Director of Corporate Relations for Gamoran Legal Consulting, a boutique legal recruiting firm based in Seattle, Washington. (www.gamoranlegal.com). Gamoran Legal Consulting assists law firms, emerging companies and corporate law departments in finding precisely the right attorney for every position, including general counsel and corporate counsel roles, law firm partners and associates. Robin consults with lawyers at every experience level to offer career guidance and potential placement opportunities. Prior to becoming a recruiter, Robin was a litigation partner at Ryan, Swanson & Cleveland, where her practice focused on resolving intellectual property, franchise, construction and commercial disputes throughout the Pacific Northwest. She currently serves as the President of the Mother Attorney Mentoring Association of Seattle (MAMA Seattle), an organization devoted to promoting and supporting mother attorneys throughout their careers and helping improve conditions for parents in the legal profession. She has a twelve year old daughter, and three adult stepchildren.
Prior to becoming a lawyer, Robin worked as a stage manager for the Alaska Repertory Theatre in Anchorage and founded a semi-professional theatre company in Fayetteville, Arkansas. She was raised on a vineyard in the Finger Lakes of New York.

Robin earned her J.D. from the University of Washington School of Law in 1994, and her B.A. in English from Yale University in 1984.

Heather Straub

Heather Straub practices criminal defense and military law from her offices in Tacoma, Washington, and she also serves as a pro tem judge in local courts. Ms. Straub received her J.D. from University of Washington School of Law and her B.A. at Duke University. Ms. Straub serves on the Boards of Directors of the Washington Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers and the Tacoma Historical Society, and serves as the Vice Chair of the state bar's Legal Assistance to Military Personnel (LAMP). She is the immediate past president of Washington Women Lawyers – Pierce County Chapter and is actively involved in the Tacoma-Pierce County Bar Association. Thompson Reuters named Heather a Criminal Defense “Super Lawyer” for 2013 and 2014.

Heather and her spouse, Major Alexander Straub, share their historical home with two dogs and the international students they host.

Bill Hayden

Bill Hayden is a Senior Attorney for Microsoft Corporation, and a Certified Information Privacy Manager (CIPM)/Certified Information Privacy Professional (CIPP). He has 15+ years of experience successfully launching enterprise and consumer technology products, closing complex multi-national transactions, and advising on new media services and technology related matters. In his role he practices technology law, with a focus on public policy, privacy issues and regulatory outreach. At Microsoft, he leads a team of veterans in the legal department focused on veterans hiring and retention initiatives and serves as Board Co-Chair for the Center for Safe Internet Pharmacies, a cross-industry nonprofit. Previously, he was responsible for legal compliance of Microsoft’s data centers worldwide.

Prior to Microsoft, he was in-house with General Electric Company’s Industrial Systems Division focusing his practice on software licensing and commercial transactions involving electrical transmission equipment and devices.

He served as a Surface Warfare Officer in the U.S. Navy and U.S. Navy Reserve for over 20 years. He graduated from Suffolk University Law School, and holds an MBA in Management from the University of Rhode Island, and a BA from Norwich University.

Greg McLawsen

Greg McLawsen is an attorney at Puget Sound Legal, P.C. where he practices immigration law. His practice focuses on representing families in the immigration system and defending individuals from deportation in immigration court. Greg regularly publishes and presents on immigration law issues and on law practice management.

Before founding Puget Sound Legal, Greg served as judicial law clerk in Washington State Superior Court for Kitsap County, assisting judges in their judicial work. Greg has also served as a research editor for Immigration Law and Procedure.

Greg is very active in leadership centered around issues of improving the practice of law. His goal with this work is to contribute to a legal system that functions more smoothly for everyone. He chairs the 1000-member Solo & Small Practice Section of the Washington State Bar Association and serve on the WSBA’s Future of the Legal Profession task force. He also chairs the Law Practice Management and Technology Committee for the Washington Chapter of the American Immigration Lawyers Association.

Forrest Carlson
Forrest Carlson is a technology geek who happens to own a law practice. While Forrest maintains a physical office in Seattle (because he likes being around people sometimes), his practice is paperless, and he has all the tools in place that he needs to operate a virtual firm. Forrest is one of the founders and coauthors of Washington Wills, a free legal resource to help Washington residents draft their own wills, for free, using instructions and forms written by licensed attorneys. He has been practicing law since 2008.

Forrest is a lifelong advocate for increasing access to legal services. He is one of the founding members of the Washington State Bar Association's Low Bono Section, and he is a panel attorney for Washington State's Moderate Means Program. In his free time, Forrest is a technology and startup enthusiast and a web design hobbyist. Forrest often promotes and speaks publicly about law and entrepreneurship, law-related technology, and increasing access to legal services through technology.

Ryan Gist
Ryan served as an artillery officer in the Army from 1998 to 2006. During that time he deployed multiple times to Bosnia, Afghanistan, and Iraq. After graduating law school from the University of Wisconsin in 2009, Ryan worked at Davis Wright Tremaine in Seattle for four years where he focused on focusing on product counseling, antitrust and consumer class action defense. Currently Ryan is an attorney for Expedia providing commercial and regulatory support for the brand Expedia, Travelocity, Orbitz, and Wotif businesses in the US, Canada, Latin America, Australia, and New Zealand.

Deborah Chapnick
Deborah Chapnick has been a Senior Counsel at the Boeing Company for over 5 years in a multifaceted role supporting the aftermarket spare parts business and Airplane Development. She also has expertise in intellectual property issues and is lead IP counsel for Boeing Commercial Airplanes. Deborah came to Boeing after 9 years as an attorney at Microsoft. While at Microsoft, she held a number of positions, including general counsel for the Office Server business unit where she helped establish Microsoft SharePoint's on-line strategy. Deborah also supported the Outbound IP Licensing group and the Xbox hardware group. Prior to Microsoft, Deborah served as Senior Attorney for Mattel's On-Line and Interactive Media businesses.

Deborah began her career in private practice at Bryan Cave LLP in both London and Santa Monica, CA. She received her undergraduate degree from Yale University, JD from the University of Virginia School of Law, and LLM from London School of Economics, University of London. Deborah has 2 children (a boy and a girl) and in her spare time she plays the flute and gardens.

Bernadette Bulacan
Drawing from her experiences as a former assistant general counsel and law firm partner, Ms. Bulacan is a frequent speaker and author regarding the use of technology in corporate legal departments, collaboration between in-house and outside counsel, and best practices related to legal project management. Ms. Bulacan specifically leads the Thomson Reuters Market Development Group, which is charged with identifying trends and innovations affecting corporate legal department practice and strengthening the bonds between Thomson Reuters and the corporate counsel community. Prior to joining the Thomson Reuters Market Development Group, Bernadette was an Assistant General Counsel for Serengeti, the leading matter management and e-billing platform for corporate legal departments. She was a founding employee of Serengeti, the most widely-used and highest-rated matter management and electronic billing platform for corporate legal departments, which was acquired by Thomson Reuters in October 2010.

Previously, Ms. Bulacan was a partner at Graham & Dunn, a Seattle law firm, where she was the head of the firm’s Entrepreneur and Emerging Companies/Corporate practice group. Ms. Bulacan started her legal career advising start-up technology companies with Venture Law Group, a Silicon Valley law firm. She is a founding member of FLOW (Filipino Lawyers of Washington) and a previous Board President for Jubilee Women’s Center, a transitional shelter for homeless women in Seattle.

Ms. Bulacan received her undergraduate degree from Yale University and her law degree and LL.M (Taxation) from the University of Washington.

Josie Beets
Josie is an attorney, government affairs professional, and strategic communications expert based in Washington, DC. She currently serves as President-Elect of the Military Spouse JD Network, representing over 1,000 attorneys dedicated to supporting our military community. Josie was the founding director of Justice for Military Families, a pro bono project dedicated to serving the legal interests of the families of our fallen service members.

Josie has impacted public policy at the national and state level, most recently serving as Public Policy Coordinator for the Tennessee Bar Association. She led the policy team focused on the development of legislation improving the legal profession. Most recently, she was named one of Nashville Business Journal's 40 Under 40 Award Winners.

Josie is a proud graduate of Sweet Briar College and Brooklyn Law School. While in law school, she was recognized for her public interest work, including an award for her criminal justice work in post-Katrina New Orleans, which landed her in People Magazine.

Donna Huneycutt
Donna S. Huneycutt is a MSJDN member and co-owner and general counsel of Wittenberg Weiner Consulting, LLC. She is also a founder and Vice Chair of the Board of In Gear Career For Military Spouses. Donna is an attorney admitted to practice law in New York. She is active in Federal procurement reform issues with a number of Washington DC organizations.

Donna holds a B.A. from the University of California, Berkeley in English and History. Donna earned a Juris Doctor from Columbia University School of Law, where she was a Harlan Fiske Stone Scholar and a Columbia Human Rights Intern.

Lori Volkman
Trajectory Communications CEO and founder Lori Volkman made a first career as an attorney in Washington State. She represented and advised elected officials, Human Resources Directors, Treasury officials, Information Technology Directors and Managers, and Public Information and Outreach policy makers, as well as serving as counsel to her jurisdiction’s chief executive and elected legislative officials.
Her expertise in communications was developed when she gained national publicity exploring the humor and realism of military family life and how it intersects with the needs of a working professional and mom. Her publicity and communications work led Volkman to become a founder and the first Communications Director for Military Spouse JD Network. Through her work creating their first national marketing and membership strategy from scratch, she gained support and built relationships with national organizations like the First Lady’s Joining Forces Initiative, the American Bar Association, Blue Star Families, and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington D.C. She periodically continues her work for the military family by producing freelance articles for Military Spouse Magazine, and supporting nation-wide Veteran and Military Family initiatives through her company’s Responsibility Campaign.

Brialle Engelhart

Brialle Engelhart has over 15 years of experience in the legal field and is currently the Criminal Division Manager for the Seattle City Attorney's Office where she is responsible for the daily administrative operations of the Division and recruits for and manages their robust volunteer/internship program. Brialle graduated from Seattle University with a B.A. in Criminal Justice and serves on the Department's Advisory Committee. She also volunteers as a Court Appointed Special Advocate for the King County Dependency CASA program.

Hickory Gateless

Hickory Gateless is the Managing Attorney of Lawyers Fostering Independence (LFI), a civil legal aid program at the Center for Children & Youth Justice. LFI provides civil legal aid to 17-24 year olds who have experienced foster, kinship, or group care at any point in their life. Prior to leading LFI's work, Hickory volunteered with the program for three years while practicing civil litigation at Pacifica Law Group. In addition, Hickory is the board president of The Mockingbird Society, a nonprofit working to improve foster care and end youth homelessness. Before private practice, Hickory served as a law clerk to Washington State Supreme Court Justice Charles W. Johnson and United States District Court Judge Benjamin Settle. Hickory graduated magna cum laude in 2008 with an MBA and law degree from Seattle University's School of Law and Albers School of Business & Economics.

Elizabeth Jamison

Libby Jamison is the Communications Director for the Military Spouse JD Network. She also manages her own virtual law practice focused on small business and family law matters and is Of Counsel to the Law Office of Thomas Carter. She currently resides in Rhode Island with her husband, a Navy helicopter pilot. Libby volunteers with MSJDN, the Military Spouse Business Association, Hire Heroes USA, Junior League, and her local spouse group. She earned her B.A. from the University of Washington in Seattle and her J.D. from the Thomas Jefferson School of Law in San Diego.

Lori Wada

For more than a decade, Lori has been a leader in supporting affordable housing, healthcare equity and equal business opportunity for under-served populations. Most recently, Lori was appointed as a member of commission for the Asian Pacific American Affairs and the governor’s commission on Health Disparities Council. She is currently employed at the Office of Insurance Commissioner in the Statewide Health Insurance Benefits Advisors program managing partnership and outreach development effort. In this role she has been an active advocate throughout the state of Washington for ensuring access to care for low-income and under-served population.

In her 25 year career at various state agencies, Lori was instrumental in the development of affordable housing and healthcare equity. She has worked with a wide range of stakeholders, and community and faith based organizations at the local and state levels on a platform of policy and equal access. She has helped implement the outreach effort for health reform, Affordable Care Act and has provided strategies to promote cultural competence and language access for limited English proficient populations.

Commissioner Wada holds a BA degree from St. Martins University.

Kierra Phifer

Kierra K Phifer is the South Sound Regional Director for U.S. Senator Patty Murray (D-WA). Kierra first joined Senator Murray’s staff in May 2012, as the Eastern Washington Regional Representative, working out of Spokane, WA. Kierra assisted constituents of Eastern and Central Washington with their problems with a variety of federal agencies (USCIS, DHS, VA, DOD, DOS, IRS, Dept. of Ed., etc.). Additionally, Kierra performed Outreach to key stakeholders in the four counties of North-Eastern Washington (Ferry, Stevens, Pend Oreille and Okanogan), as well as the veteran community in thirteen counties of Eastern Washington, working on a variety of different local and policy issues.

Kierra was born and raised in Los Angeles, CA, but moved to Spokane to attend Gonzaga University in 2008. In 2012, Kierra graduated from Gonzaga with a Bachelor’s degree in Political Science and Psychology, with a minor in Spanish. In April 2014, Kierra accepted the position of South Sound Director and moved to Tacoma. Kierra now resides in the North End of Tacoma.

Jinyoung Lee Englund

Jinyoung is a second generation military spouse who serves as a member of the Republican National Committee's Advisory Board as well as a member of Jeb's tech policy working group. In addition, she is the Vice President of Strategy for the Digital Currency Council. In this role, Jinyoung represents digital currencies and similar technology to government officials and law enforcement agencies to empower their efforts in protecting against crimes such as sexual exploitation, human trafficking, money laundering, terrorist financing, narcotics trafficking, and internet crimes against children.

Jinyoung is also a sought out speaker on the potential of digital currency and the Blockchain for accelerating global financial inclusion for the economic empowerment of the poor.

Prior to joining the Digital Currency Council, Jinyoung was the director of communications and business development for the Bitcoin Foundation. In 2012, Jinyoung served on the Romney/Ryan Presidential Transition Team in the office of the executive director. Jinyoung also served as operations associate at the Heritage Foundation to the Honorable Elaine L. Chao, 24th Secretary of Labor. In the office of Congresswoman Cathy McMorris Rodgers, Jinyoung directed day to day operations as the director of scheduling and served as the Women’s Project Co-Lead.

Jinyoung earned her bachelor's degree at the University of Washington in the Comparative History of Ideas. She is an alumnus of the 32nd U.S. Delegation to Australia with the American Council of Young Political Leaders, an international exchange program through the Department of State designed to promote mutual understanding, respect, and friendship with the goal of cultivating long-lasting relationships among young people who are poised to become tomorrow’s global leaders and policy makers. Jinyoung and her husband, U.S. Marine Corps Captain Geoffrey S. Englund, are currently stationed in Okinawa, Japan.

Megan Paone

Megan Paone is a Senior Manager for Business and State Engagement at Hiring Our Heroes with the U.S. Chamber of Commerce Foundation.

Prior to joining the Hiring Our Heroes team, Megan spent 12 years working in the United States Senate as a Capitol Hill staffer. She worked for five Senators, including her home state Senator, former Senator Tim Johnson of South Dakota and for two senate committees. Megan was able to focus on many important issues as she moved from answering the phones in the front office, to press, to health research, and finally finding her niche as the Administrative Director. Her last title gave her the opportunity to manage many issues within the personnel and operational functions of each member’s DC and state offices, including managing the overall personnel and operating budgets.

In keeping with (public) service, as a Senior Manager working for Hiring Our Heroes, Megan has the chance to help transitioning service members, veterans, and military spouses find meaningful employment either during their time in service and/or as they are about to transition into civilian life.

Megan is also a military spouse who is currently living in Fayetteville, NC with her husband and her two furry family members, Roscoe and Augie.

Robert Crowley

Mr. Crowley enlisted in the Army in 1991, and was commissioned as an Infantry second lieutenant in 1992, after completing Infantry One Station Unit Training and Officer Candidate School at Fort Benning, Georgia. Following service with the 10th Mountain Division (Light), during which he participated in Operation UPHOLD DEMOCRACY, Mr. Crowley completed the Special Forces Qualification Course, and was assigned to 1st Battalion, 10th Special Forces Group (Airborne). While assigned to Tenth Group, Mr. Crowley served as a company executive officer, and then commanded two SFODAs, during which he participated in Operation ALLIED FORCE/NOBLE ANVIL. Mr. Crowley was subsequently assigned to the Joint Readiness Training Center at Fort Polk, Louisiana, where he served as a Special Operations Forces Observer/Controller and then as a Special Operations Forces Plans Officer. Mr. Crowley left active duty as a major in 2003 to attend the University of Washington’s School of Law.

In addition to a JD from the University of Washington’s School of Law, Mr. Crowley’s education includes a BA in Russian Area Studies from the University of Washington, an MSc in the Politics and Government of Russia from the University of London, and an MA in Military Studies (Special Operations and Low Intensity Conflict) from American Military University.

Since 2006, Mr. Crowley has practiced as a commercial litigator in the Seattle offices of two international law firms, first Dorsey & Whitney LLP, and now Bracewell & Giuliani LLP, where he is also a member of his firm’s trial group. Mr. Crowley is admitted to the Bars of the States of Washington and Alaska, and is admitted to practice before the U.S. District Courts for the Western and Eastern Districts of Washington, the U.S. Court of Federal Claims, and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.
